FINAL COMMENTS

„...About Koving Today's business environment requires a reliable strategic partner that will ensure business is safe and grounded, and therefore successful. Koving specialises in distribution, installation, designing, consulting, maintenance systems technical protection The company has evolved from an implementer of classical security systems into a system of integrators of technical protection and security systems, while also creating a unique solution that integrates within it a wide range of systems and products. Koving's valuable experience and professionalism set the company apart as a regional leader with references that include over 7,000 satisfied customers. The unbeatable level of security Koving provides its clients has been recognised by the most reputable institutions and projects across the country and Eastern Europe, such as government and financial institutions, shopping centres, offices and sports facilities throughout Serbia, Montenegro, Bosnia and Herzegovina and Russia..... Future alongside a new concept of integration With the aim of meeting all of the needs of clients, Koving works constantly on the development of its services thereby seeking, through the new, modern concept of integrating security systems, multimedia and systems for improving operations and monitoring, to ensure its operations and the business activities of customers are flawless. The essence of the idea of integration is the ability to connect a large number of objects in a coherent system and follow that system through centralised monitoring. This new concept of integration unites all systems in the field of security, protection, multimedia, IT and automation. This kind of comprehensive and complex system also requires a reliable, functional and stylish monitoring solution. The complexity of the system is countered by the ease of use and additional features that emerge from the synergies created by integration.
